HISTORY

Amanzimtoti

Meaning 'Sweetwaters' in Zulu, this popular holiday town attracts beach lovers year-round. It has a rich history and it's believed to have been named by the famous King Shaka during one of his campaigns. Shaka was brought a calabash of water to drink and, upon sipping it, he commented 'Kanti amanzi amtoti' meaning 'the water is sweet'.

Winkelspruit

This popular seaside holiday resort is north of the Illovo River Mouth. It earns its unusual name from the Afrikaans word 'winkel' meaning 'shop'. This dates back to 1875 when sailors set up shop on the riverbank, selling waterlogged goods from the shipwrecked schooner, Tonga, on the riverbank.

Illovo Beach

This is an idyllic seaside resort with the beautiful Illovo Beach on the banks of the Illovo River. It's named after the 'mlovo' trees growing along the river banks. Despite its convenient location, Illovo is away from bustling hubs and offers a tranquil retreat.

Umgababa

This rural KZN South Coast destination is named after the Zulu word meaning 'my father's wife' situated on the river of the same name.

Clansthal

This is a former German-American mission town that has become a prime beachside destination, with the Green Point lighthouse a popular attraction. The Clansthal Conservancy, between the Mahlongwana and Mahlongwa rivers, is a jewel of the Upper South Coast, protecting the area's rich biodiversity.

Adams Mission

Established as a medical settlement by American missionary Dr Newton Adams, it was destroyed by Dingaan before being rebuilt in 1839. Dr Adam's medical skills benefitted British colonists, Boers, and indigenous residents, with Adams College established in his honour in 1853. Its alumni include presidents of Botswana and Uganda, ministers and leaders of the ANC.

Umbumbulu

Named for the Zulu phrase, meaning a 'round knoll', Umbumbulu is surrounded by farming communities with the Ntinyane River flowing through. It was the site of local conflict in the 1970s and 80s, with hundreds murdered and thousands displaced from the area.

OCEAN ACTIVITIES

The warm Indian Ocean found along the Sapphire Coast makes this a top seaside destination for domestic and international tourists. The subtropical climate means sunny skies and temperate conditions year-round, with seaside activities plentiful.

Amanzimtoti Main Beach is a hub of ocean fun, with children particularly drawn to the fun slides at Splash Water World. There are a variety of restaurants, takeaways, and shops to be tried and explored along the bustling promenade with local traders selling beautiful crafts and curios.

Those looking for a family-friendly, beach holiday will enjoy the golden sands and warm waters for swimming, snorkelling and boogie boarding. The many rock pools dotted around the coast are ideal for little ones to explore, with surfing and kite surfing popular sporting activities for older family members.

Charter boats are available to take anglers out for a day of deep-sea fishing, while rock and surf fishing remains a popular pastime among the locals as well. There's also the option of horse rides on the beach with experienced guides catering for a range of abilities.

DIVING

Umkomaas

Located on the Mkhomazi River, for which the town is named, Umkomaas was formed in 1861 when the harbour (now disused) was built to export sugar. The estuary here was used as a nursery for whales, prompting the name uMkhomazi – place of the cow whales. In 1944, the village was the site of a fatal crash of a War Hawk Air Force Plane after a mid-air collision.

Aliwal Shoal

This Marine Protected Area (MPA), found just off the coast of Umkomaas, is considered one of the world's top warm water dive sites, attracting intrepid scuba divers from around the world to its spectacular marine ecosystem. Charter boats are available to take divers to the magnificent reef, alive with colourful corals, reef fish, turtles, whales, rays, and moray eels.

Divers are drawn to the clear, warm waters that provide incredible visibility across the reef's intricate gullies and caves where Zambezi and tiger sharks frequent. There's also the must-visit Raggie's Cave famed for its ragged-tooth sharks, moray eels, and potato bass. Heading over to Outside Edge there's even more marine life to see such as game fish and dolphins.

SARDINE RUN

The Sapphire Coast plays host to one of the world's most spectacular natural phenomena on the globe – the annual Sardine Run. Every year, in the winter months between May and July, billions of sardines (also known as pilchards) make their way northwards along the coastline heading towards Mozambique.

Swimming close to shore, the sardines attract seine netters, anglers, and even residents keen to catch a few of these delicious fish. But beyond the delicious dishes they make, sardines also attract other natural predators in the form of game fish, dolphins, whales, sharks, and sea birds overhead. This makes for some spectacular snorkelling, diving, and boat excursions along the Sapphire Coast.

Local lore has it that when the beach aloes bloom, the sardines are coming. It is believed that the more the aloes flower, the more fish there will be.

CONSERVATION

The popular Crocworld Conservation Centre, home to a variety of animal species in a beautiful setting, with an on-site restaurant, is the ideal spot for a meal with a sea view. Stroll through the beautifully-landscaped gardens, which is home to a variety of indigenous and endemic vegetation.

The centre is best described as a reptile and bird park with a botanical feel and a strong focus on adding value to visitors experiences through interaction with the natural surroundings and rare animal interaction opportunities.

It is home to a wide variety of reptile species which includes snakes, lizards, tortoises and most famously crocodiles after which the centre is aptly named. Henry, the oldest resident crocodile, is estimated to be over 120 years old!

Crocworld is the place where everyone can immerse themselves in- and reconnect with nature.

BIRDING

The Sapphire Coast Birding Route

One of the country's best-kept birding secrets, this incredible route winds along the Sapphire Coast, stretching from the eziMbokodweni River in the north to the aMahlongwa River in the south, about 9km inland from the coast. It has everything from coastal birds and forest specials to soaring raptors – an amazing birding experience! Top birding sites include: Amanzimtoti Bird Park, Umbogavango Nature Reserve, Ilanda Wilds Nature Reserve, the Illovo River and Empisini Nature Reserve.

Those in the mood for a leisurely afternoon outdoors should head to Amanzimtoti's lagoon. Illovo River is another top spot for water sports, fishing, birding, and picnics.

First opened in 1915, this club has a variety of amenities for individuals to enjoy throughout the year. This superb, userfriendly golf course will test experienced golfers looking for a challenging coastal game as well as holidaymakers looking for a fun game in the sun.

Umkomaas Golf Club

Established in 1913 as a 9-hole course, Umkomaas Golf Club was redesigned by renowned course designer, Robert Grimsdell in 1932, expanding to an 18-hole course. With its beautiful sea views and raised greens, this is a wonderful round for golfers of all handicaps. The well-placed bunkers and undulating fairways create enough of a challenge, while those seeking a bit of fun on the greens will find what they're looking for. Known as 'The Friendliest Club', visitors are always welcome to enjoy a drink or a meal with locals.

SPORT

A number of outdoor gyms are located at Athlone Park, Amanzimtoti Main Beach, Hutchinson Park and Umgababa amongst others in the region.
